

BHAKTI

BY MELISSA HONEYBEE HENDERSON / PHOTOS BY JULIANNE REYNOLDS

The Fall Bhakti Fest extravaganza will be held at Joshua Tree Retreat Center, September 8-11.

Ascending, expanding, celebrating together at Bhakti Fest
Each one of us equally important as the next
I celebrate you, you celebrate me
Joshua tree is the place to be free
Be free to explore, be free to expand, open your hearts and dive right in Praying to god, one love in motion
Singing and chanting in Bhakti devotion
Moment to moment is bliss pure bliss
Each chant brings us in like a sultry kiss
A kiss from the divine to open our hearts
With hearts open wide shot like a dart
A dart of pure love, of power and freedom
Laxshmi, Durga, Kali Ma
Celebrating the Gods and Goddesses that we are To be you, to be me, to be us, to be one Krishna, Shiva and Hanuman
See the reflection of our brothers and sisters
Singing one God, One Love, One Verse
Bhakti Fest is the place to be free
Let down your guard and experience you as me

Melissa Honeybee Henderson is a writer, Yogi and fervent bhakti. Souldiving.org